WASHINGTON, DC, March 29, 2016 – Ames & Gough, a leading insurance broker and risk management consultant specializing in serving design professionals, law firms, associations/nonprofits and other professional service organizations, has announced the appointment of Cady M. Sinks as a broker.

Based in the Washington, DC office, Ms. Sinks has more than 12 years of experience in risk and insurance services. At Ames & Gough, she is responsible for evaluating clients' risks, as well as all aspects of their insurance renewal process. She is directly involved in the placement of all commercial coverage lines, including property/casualty, professional liability, and management liability.

“As our growing client base looks to Ames & Gough for a full complement of risk and insurance services, we are continuing to expand our capabilities and resources to meet these needs with a steadfast commitment to excellence in all areas of our business,” said Dan Knise, president and chief executive officer, Ames & Gough. “Cady’s hands-on experience in construction risk management and insurance along with her strong academic credentials will suit her well in delivering the value and high-quality service our clients have come to expect from all of us. We’re delighted to welcome Cady to our team.”

Before joining Ames & Gough, Ms. Sinks was a director in Clark Construction Group, LLC’s Risk Management program for three years. In this role she was responsible for overseeing all owner contract reviews, negotiating final insurance terms, and coordinating deliverables for all bids and awarded projects. She also assisted in training Clark employees on insurance and risk issues and participated in quarterly insurer meetings.

Earlier, she was with Victor O. Schinnerer from 2004 to 2013, where she held positions of increasing responsibility during her tenure. She began as an associate account executive and ultimately became associate vice president and program manager. In this role, she oversaw a team responsible for the firm’s $30 million-plus contractor’s professional and pollution liability program. She earned B.A. degrees in economics and English from The University of Virginia, where she was a GEICO Jack & Dorothy Byrne Academic Scholarship winner. She also earned an M.S. degree in insurance management from Boston University.
