NEW YORK, May 3, 2017 – Ames & Gough, a leading insurance broker and risk management consultant specializing in serving design professionals, law firms, associations/nonprofits and other professional service organizations, has announced the appointment of Wayne T. Marshall as vice president and client executive. In addition, Mr. Marshall will lead the firm's New York operations, where Ames & Gough plans to open an office in the immediate future.

“Over the years, Ames & Gough has developed a significant base of clients throughout the New York metropolitan area,” said Dan Knise, president and CEO, Ames & Gough. “As our work in this region continues to expand, the timing is right for us to establish a local presence. Wayne’s extensive work with design professionals and law firms on complex professional liability insurance claims demonstrates his understanding of the special needs and evolving exposures of these clients, and makes him ideally suited to lead our operations here. We’re delighted to have Wayne as part of our team and look forward to his leadership and direction as we build our presence in the New York region.”

Ames & Gough, which was established in 1992, also has offices in Washington, DC; Boston, and Philadelphia.

A recognized expert in complex claims involving architectural and engineering firms, Mr. Marshall previously was with Berkley Design Professional in New York as a senior vice president and professional liability claims manager. Earlier, he was with Catlin as a senior claims examiner and subsequently, assistant director of U.S. Litigation Management of XL Catlin (following the merger of the two insurers).

An attorney, Mr. Marshall was an insurance litigator and served as a senior claims counsel for Zurich North America, where he focused on architect, engineer and construction related claims. He earned a J.D. degree from Hofstra University School of Law.
